WHEREAS, persons with criminal records have difficulty obtaining meaningful employment, even while employment is an important factor in reducing recidivism and crime rates; and

WHEREAS, employing persons with a criminal record can promote public safety and reduce state corrections costs by reducing recidivism rates; and

WHEREAS, the Commonwealth of Kentucky is dedicated to removing barriers that make it difficult for persons with a criminal record to live crime-free, productive lives because of the stigma of their past; and

WHEREAS, those with a criminal record can improve our workforce and contribute important and needed skills that add value to our communities; and

WHEREAS, an approach to state employment that improves public safety, bolsters workforce development, and increases employment rates among those with a criminal record will be beneficial for the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, a “fair chance employment” approach to Executive Branch state job applications would not remove the Commonwealth’s ability to conduct a background check on applicants, but would merely ensure that a criminal record does not serve as an automatic disqualification from receiving an interview or further consideration for employment, except as required by law; and

WHEREAS, this reform will allow those with a criminal record to explain their record and permit the Commonwealth to consider all relevant factors in hiring decisions; and
